AG Says Judge's Expense Check Violates Statute

By FERRIN COX

Our system of laws in America assumes no person is above the law. This has been shown in recent years by a president resigning under fire; a number of federal officials being sentenced to jail from related incidents; elected state officials being convicted of taking bribes and/or using their office for personal gain; school officials and county commissioners within the state being charged with taking kickbacks on purchases, etc.

Assuming none is above the law of the land, and that we want our public officials to properly spend our tax money and obey all other laws, the question is raised about the Coffee

County Probate Judge James Sawyer's continuing to draw a $450 monthly "expense allowance" for serving as chairman of the county commission. Attorney General Charles Graddick ruled in a similar situation in Blount County on January 31, 1979, that since the probate judge was drawing a salary as prescribed by Alabama law, he wasn't entitled to the additional compensation.

Sawyer has drawn the $450 for every month since Coffee County changed from the fee system to a salary for the probate judge in January 1977 when Sawyer officially began the present term of office.

Through October of 1981 this totaled $26,100 he has drawn contrary to what the attorney general rules he is entitled to receive.

Act 460 of the Alabama legislature of 1976 established the salary for three county officials including the probate judge. The probate judge was started the first year of his present term at $23,000 with $500 increases each year until it reached a maximum of $25,000 salary.

The act reads, "The salaries hereinabove provided shall be payable in equal monthly installments from the general fund of such counties and shall be paid in lieu of any salaries, expense allowances, or other compensation heretofore prescribed by law for such officers."

The Blount County law reads in part, "Such salaries shall be paid in lieu of all other compensation heretofore provided by law and shall be paid in equal monthly installments. . . . Looking back to the Coffee County law, it includes the above wording plus the words, "expense allowances" which should clear any doubt on the monthly check. Graddick ruled, "The salary prescribed is the total compensation to be received by the probate judge according to the specific language of the statute. . . . If the wording applies to Blount County, Alabama, then surely it applies to Coffee County, Alabama."

The basis behind the continued drawing of the expense money is apparently a 1972 ruling by then Attorney General Bill Baxley that the probate judge is a member of the county governing body and is entitled to expense allowance. This ruling was requested by Conrad Fowler, chairman of the Shelby County Commission. However, the 1976 act eliminated "compensation heretofore prescribed by law for such officers. . . ."

Judge Sawyer did receive the same expense allowance ($150 monthly) as allowed the commissioners for his first six years in office. He filed a single claim for $9,000 covering the years 1971 through 1976, and this was paid some time after the claim was filed.

If this is truly a county of laws, then all involved should abide by the laws of this country. If the elected officials are not being paid an adequate salary, then this country should quickly change the laws to pay these officials a fair salary, and these officials should strive to build respect for the law and the government by not accepting monies that are prohibited by law.

JUDGE JAMES SAWYER

"Such salaries shall be paid in lieu of all other compensation heretofore provided by law and shall be paid in equal monthly installments out of the general fund in the county treasury."

"All fees, commissions, allowances, percentages, and other charges heretofore collected for the use of the judge of probate, tax assessor, and tax collector, hereafter shall be collected and paid into the general fund of the county."

The salary prescribed is the total compensation to be received by the Probate Judge according to the specific language of the statute.

Yours very truly,

CHARLES A. GRADDICK

County Commission To Oppose Closing Of The Railway Stations

A request to the Alabama Public Service Commission by the Seaboard Railroad to close railway offices in Elba and New Brockton will be opposed by the Coffee County Commission. The commission voted in its Monday, October 12, meeting to go on record as opposing the closing, and stated it would forward a resolution to the Public Service Commission noting its opposition.

A public hearing on the request is set for October 22 at 9:00 a.m. in the P.S.C. hearing room in Montgomery, and at least one commissioner stated he would attend.

Sheriff Brice Paul came to the meeting to present a detailed study on the total number of man-days spent in the county jail by state prisoners. The report showed a total of 17,900 actual days, which means the state would owe the county between $65-75,000 for housing the prisoners.

Paul also received permission to send out invitations to bid on two patrol cars. The bids will be on cars with and without a special "police package."

Commissioner Rex Boutwell was against getting cars with the police package, noting considerable trouble the county has experienced with cars equipped with the package. Sheriff Paul had an opposite view of the need for the police package, saying Boutwell was wrong and that the cars without the package didn't last as long as those with it. However, the sheriff did agree to get bids on both models.

In other action at Monday's meeting, the commission:

voted against allowing the county's new garbage pickup service to pick up garbage inside the Enterprise corporate limits in Dale County.

agreed to accept a settlement in the amount of $1,725 for a 1974 truck involved in a wreck;

approved a request to allow the New Brockton Elementary School to use the Farm Center on October 29 for a Halloween Carnival;

was asked to contact its legislators opposing a 12 percent cutback in revenue sharing funds on January 1, 1981;

agreed to change the opening date of bids on pipe, asphalt and stone to November 6;

and paid bills.

The next meeting will be on Monday, October 26, at 9 a.m. in Enterprise.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of Alabama:

"Section 2. The following county officers of such counties shall receive the following annual salaries:

Probate Judge	$23,000.00 per year
Tax Assessor	18,000.00 per year
Tax Collector	18,000.00 per year

"The salaries hereinabove provided shall be payable in equal monthly installments from the general fund of such counties and shall be paid in lieu of any salaries, expense allowances, or other compensation heretofore prescribed by law for such officers, provided that the probate judge's salary shall have an annual raise of $500.00 for the next four years up to a limit of $25,000 annually."

Section 2. This Act shall become effective immediately upon its passage and approval by the Governor, or upon its passage becoming a law.

Board Of Education Ends Year By Borrowing Money

After approving a $1.75 million budget for the 1981-82 school year, the Elba City Board of Education passed a resolution to seek a $25,000 loan from local banks.

Superintendent John Osburn told board members during last Thursday's meeting, that the $25,000 is needed to overcome a "cash-flow problem."

State law requires school boards to keep a month's operating expense in reserve at all time. However, proration and installation of a new roof at Elba Middle School has depleted the surplus.

The $25,000 is needed to meet current obligations such as payroll, bills, and accounts. The reason we're having to borrow this money now is due to a cash flow problem," explained Osburn.

Osburn, who took over the reins of the superintendent's office in August, also warned the board that he sees "no way around" having to borrow another $75,000 short-term loan in November when final payment on the roof and new high school wing is due.

"As a result of 3.5 percent proration and emergency capital outlay expenditures on the new roof, our one month's operating reserve that we normally have been depleted," added the Osburn.

"With a very tight budget this year, we should be able to recover the amount of funds we're having to borrow."

After the school board was unable to reach a settlement with the company that installed the middle school roof to repair leaks, the members voted last summer to replace the roof and file a lawsuit against the company.

The 1981-82 budget is $366,000 less than last year's budget and allocates no money for new school buses or for major repairs to the physical buildings.

"We were not able to budget (1) a feasible amount for interior renovation of the middle school; (2) general maintenance; or (3) a new school bus," Osburn said. "Those are three items we desperately needed some operating capital for that we don't have."

"But we are feeling the effects of three years of proration, the expenditure of the middle school roof, and a decrease in federal funds."

The largest expenditure in the budget is for salaries and fixed charges which consumes $1.5 million or 85.5 percent of the system's money. This item covers salaries for all teachers, support personnel, lunchroom workers, and central office staff. "It is imperative that we live within this budget and I will be calling on all the faculties and staff to assist me in everyway possible in being as financially conservative as we can be," Osburn said.

The budget includes only $9,500 for school plant maintenance. One board member noted that it takes almost that much money each year to keep his one house in "working order."

Osburn said he originally budgeted $21,000 to purchase a new school bus, but had to cut it out before drafting the final version.

The biggest portion of the school revenue comes from the state-$1.4 million (81 percent); with the federal government adding $193,000 (10 percent); $75,000 from an 11 mill district tax; $47,000 miscellaneous (city); and $35,000 from a county-wide tax.

Federal money is earmarked for specific programs such as Title I, Title 4B, Title 6B, and career education.

The Coffee County Commissioners were met by stiff opposition to their proposed sales tax by a group of Enterprise residents during Monday's meeting. For more details, see page 2 of today's Clipper.

Brainstorms

By FERRIN COX

We have read every word (several times) of the proposed sales tax for the jails and courthouses. Almost none of us likes additional taxes and yet no one is an exception. We had not made a firm decision on support or rejection of the measure, and promised not to do so until the dust had settled. Now, my friend Roy Shoffner (publisher of The Enterprise Ledger) has exploded, opposing the new courthouse in Enterprise, etc.; so maybe I better look at the matter closer. If Friend Roy is opposed, it can't be all bad!

This writer is puzzled about the uproar over the proposed sales tax bill. For it to become law requires a majority vote of the people of Coffee County; and the day when we are afraid of the democratic process, is the day this country is in for some troubles we shudder to consider. The logical assumption is that the real fear is that the measure will pass because it is the desire of the long-suffering majority; or that this majority is simply tired of the continuing battle and wants it settled once and for all. We must quietly admit that the wind is blowing us in the direction of the latter group.

Governor Fob James is splitting out a lot of ideas for the legislature to consider. He has done this before, and as the result of the confusion, lost the whole ball of wax. We strongly urge him to confine his projects with the legislature to one or two issues at the time. This way, we can understand, and it wouldn't be enough for him to thrive on muddy water to get more than a light stain stirred up before the session would be over.

Fall weather is here and before we know it, winter will once again be upon us. My fishing friends have been reporting some good catches up until this past week, but they believe it will be better next week.

Elba beat Troy Friday night, and those of you who let a little rain keep you from a high school football game missed an exciting game. We should be thankful for the light turnout, because the cheering was loud enough anyway. Our cars would have been sore if a full house had doubled the noise.

The hands didn't play Friday night and this is okay with me, editor, because we know the cost of those uniforms and instruments . . . and they don't mix well with water.

Selling those airplanes to the Arabs is one of the important things my wife lets me decide; but today I don't know enough about the matter to tell President Reagan exactly what he should do -- but give me time.

Oil utility rates will increase and in Elba it will happen right away. This means we need to keep looking for ways to cut our usage. At our house we recently added a timer on the hot water heater, and it will probably save money if we would forget there was an override switch to heat some more water.

We received an unsigned letter attacking something we don't think should be attacked. It would be great if the writer would contact us and take time for a discussion on some facts of which they are apparently not aware.

Commission Hears Complaints

The Coffee County Commission met in regular session on Monday, October 12, at the courthouse in Enterprise, and heard several county residents voice their opposition to the dual courthouse system. The size of a new jail to be built in Enterprise and the proposed one-cent sales tax introduced by Representative Jimmy Holley.

The meeting started out routinely with a rural resident complaining about the condition of the road on which he and 12 other families live. Charles McGlothlen stated the county pulled the ditches and worked up the road several years ago, but since then it has only been scraped. He added that commissioners had been promising to work the road for 25 years, and said he wanted it done. McGlothlen declared, "I think it is time to put priorities in to include rural residents, not to build a four-cell holding jail in the bottom behind the courthouse."

The commissioners in McGlothlen's district agreed to go and check out the problem, but the comment about the jail at the time he said it was a full-scale explosion.

Hoover Moore stated, "We people are here to see good government prevail," while James Jolly declared, "All we want is what we deserve in the county. I have been here a long time and we have a situation that isn't good. People have been bickering for many years, and now this sales tax will do nothing but keep us in the 1960's. We need one central location - I don't care where it is as long as a majority of the people in the county decide. We don't need a dual courthouse system."

County Attorney Warren Rowe answered the speakers by saying, "The law was created in 1903 -- these commissioners aren't to be blamed! You have different factions wanting to be in the courthouse in different places, but you have no majority agreeing on any one spot. Until then you will have a dual system in the county. A petition has been floating around to move the county seat to Enterprise for over a year and it still needs over 2500 signatures. What you advocate is for the commission to disregard the court order and forget the sales tax resolution; I don't want my clients to go to jail."

One gentleman spoke up and said, "I keep hearing the county needs a new courthouse and jail -- well I come here once a year to pay taxes and buy my tag, and I don't think we need a new jail or a new courthouse. There isn't enough leadership on the commission, and there is too much selfishness in Enterprise to get the petition passed."

The statement about a lack of leadership seemed to rub Commissioner Charlie Mack Martin the wrong way, and he stated, "I'll be glad to support one courthouse and jail, and will vote for it when it can be done legally. I will abide by the law, whether I like it or not. I don't have the authority to change the law; if you want to change the law, fine -- but don't accuse us of a lack of leadership."

One gentleman who had researched the original act of 1903 gave a most informative speech on the matter and suggested the people support a new state constitution that would drop the old laws made in "horse and buggy days," while Jolly repeated Rowe, "The only system is to change the dual system by petition -- the law is clear. If you want to change the system, get 50 percent of the voters, plus one, to sign it; but if you're looking for someone to blame -- look in the mirror -- don't blame the commissioners."

Ken Koenig, an Enterprise attorney, and an assistant district attorney, became incensed over Rowe's speech and charged across the room, saying, "What Mr. Rowe said is a bold-faced lie. The lawsuit was to force the commission to abide by the law and to provide a suitable jail in Enterprise; it didn't say one thing about remodeling the courthouses and the Elba jail. If the Elba courthouse is remodeled, it will kill the petition and all efforts to end the dual system for 25 years. The judge ordered the county to build a jail, but in an effort to get around the commission tried to use the Elba courthouse as a jail. This is a crisis -- we have a jail crisis. Don't be misled, the resolution stated the jail in Enterprise would not exceed four cells, and that the actual number would be left up to the discretion of the commission, which will probably be zero. If this sales tax passes, there can never be one dime spent to build more than a four-cell jail in Enterprise."

After his blistering attack on the commission and the county attorney, Hooks singled out Commissioner Martin saying, "I find fault in that you voted to go along with a measure that would extend the two-courthouse system for 25 more years. A no vote is better than a bad vote!"

The commissioners, obviously split on the issue, bickered briefly among themselves, and then Rowe repeated, "There is no way to get the courthouse out of the issue. This can only be resolved if a petition passes and the people of the county vote."

Commissioner Marvin Bowden made a motion to ask Representative Holley to withdraw the sales tax resolution, and for the commission to comply with the court order and build a jail in Enterprise out of ad valorem taxes. Commissioner Eugene Bradley seconded the motion, but it was in immediate trouble. Commissioner Rex Boutwell asked, "How will we pay for it?"

Commissioner Mack Martin said, "I would object to any motion that would go against a sworn testimony presented to the judge; I am afraid it would put us in contempt of court."

The commissioners, obviously split on the issue, bickered briefly among themselves, and then Rowe repeated, "There is no way to get the courthouse out of the issue. This can only be resolved if a petition passes and the people of the county vote."

Commissioner Marvin Bowden made a motion to ask Representative Holley to withdraw the sales tax resolution, and for the commission to comply with the court order and build a jail in Enterprise out of ad valorem taxes. Commissioner Eugene Bradley seconded the motion, but it was in immediate trouble. Commissioner Rex Boutwell asked, "How will we pay for it?"

MISS ELBA TO ENTER Festival Pageant

By KIM WHITMAN
Miss Elba, Pam Williams, with her winning smile, will represent Elba in the National Peanut Festival in Dothan on October 15-17 at the Civic Center.

Pam is a senior at Elba High School, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Williams. She is the captain of the varsity cheerleaders, a member of the Senior Beta Club, E Club and a member of the Junior Miss Lovers Club. Her interests are cheerleading, playing the piano, singing, swimming and baking.

Over forty girls will be competing for the title of Miss National Peanut Festival Queen. The contestants are judged on poise, grace, vivaciousness, evening gown, Sunday attire, verbal communication and written communication skills. They will have interviews with the judges and attend teas and dinners given to them by local residents of the area. Whoever is chosen queen will no longer hold a city title.

Many Donors Participate in Blood Drive

On Wednesday, Oct. 7 the Red Cross held a Blood Drive in Elba at the old armory. Both high school students and local residents that work at the hospital assisted the nurses for the donation of blood. The school's participation and support was evident by the many donors throughout the day that were students at Elba.

Two Elba Teachers Attend Math Workshop

The Alabama Council of Teachers of Mathematics (ACTM), District IX Workshop was held October 6 at the Enterprise Civic Center. Z. Fleming, Jr., District IX director of ACTM, and other math teachers in the Enterprise City School System, along with math instructors at Enterprise State Junior College, coordinated the workshop.

Elba High School Has Clubs To Suit Everyone's Needs

By KIM WHITMAN
Every student in grades 7-12 can get involved by joining various clubs at EHS. There's a club for everyone.

Most of the clubs elect new members based on certain qualifications. Some of the qualifications might be leadership, willingness to work or interest in the club.

Each club enjoys school related activities, as well as non-school related activities. There are two student council associations, SCAs—the junior high and the senior high. SCA is the student government for the school. It consists of a certain number of students chosen by the student body to represent their class. They work to improve school conditions.

There are also two Beta clubs, junior and senior. Students who maintain at least a B average can be members. The purpose of the club is to promote the ideals of honesty, service, and leadership among students of America, to reward meritorious achievement and to encourage and assist students to continue their education after high school. The club sponsors are Mr. John W. Sharpless and Mr. John C. Windham.

Math Club Is Selling Lollipops

Do you like lollipops? The Chi Alpha Mu Junior High Math Club is selling them. There are 10 in a pack, which sells for $1.00 each. The flavors range from blackberry ripple to cherry and banana swirl.

You may buy the lollipops from any Chi Alpha Mu member, or from Mrs. Sue King, club sponsor.

Buy your favorite guy or gal a bag of lollipops. There is a little kid in all of us. The lollipops will also make a great treat for all the spooky and goblins that will be ringing your doorbell on Halloween night.

Beta Club Meets

The Senior Beta Club of Elba High School met in the library during activity period on Thursday, Oct. 8. The meeting was called to order by President Julie Mauldin. The roll was called and the minutes of the last meeting were read. A financial report was given by Stanley Moore.

Business to be discussed included a request for members to work in the concession stand at the ballgame Friday night. Suggestions were made for programs to be presented during future meetings.

Guidance Counselor Is Highly Respected

John Waylon Sharpless, guidance counselor at Elba High School, has been a much loved and highly respected member of the high school faculty for quite some time.

For two years after his teaching career at Elba, he taught a mixture of science, mathematics, and history, and worked two periods a day as counselor. In 1967, he was promoted to full time guidance counselor of the senior high school, the position he still holds.

Part of his job as guidance counselor consists of administering tests, individual and group counseling, and finding information for students about different colleges, trade schools, etc.

As if that weren't enough, he must also deal with the paperwork involved, making permanent records, sending transcripts to various colleges, and making references for employment.

Good Manners Earn Respect for Anyone

By MELISSA NORMAN
Whether you are applying for a job, learning in a classroom, cheering at a pep rally or a ballgame, participating in a program, or just having an everyday conversation, manners can be the best friend you have. And all that you must do to have them is just remember a few general ideas.

When others are speaking, wait until they finish before you begin. You may learn something just by listening!

If someone does a favor for you, show appreciation. If you do that person will probably be willing to do even more for you later.

Remember that kindness results in kindness. Even when another is rude to you, whether intentionally or not, a harsh word will never heal wounds. This rule of conduct may be the hardest to follow, but it is always worth the extra effort.

Perhaps the most important general rule of behavior is simply "be considerate." A mere word or action can completely change your relationship with another person.

Good manners do not require much time or trouble—but they do require thought. And once you have good manners will be a loyal friend for the rest of your life.

Brockton Blanks Rebels 37-0

STORY & PICTURES BY RONNY SHIVER

As the refs took to the field, it began to sprinkle; while the captains were being introduced, it began to rain; and by kickoff it was pouring! But the rain failed to dampen the Gamecocks' spirit Friday night as they triumphed over the Zion Chapel Rebels 37-0.

Zion won the toss and took the opening kickoff with Arnold running the ball back for 13 yards. On first down, Green carried the ball for one yard, and on 2nd, for two yards. On third down a pass intended for Green slipped through his hands, and on fourth Zion had to punt the ball away.

New Brockton took over on their own 38-yard line but on first, Zion Chapel gave up 15 yards on an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty, and another five yards for offside. The Gamecocks' Joseph Burrows then carried the ball for six yards and a Brockton first down on the Z.C. 35-yard line. On first down Paul Karpinsk toted the ball four yards, and on 2nd, Burrows gained eight yards for another Brockton first. In two more downs the Gamecock made another first and on 4th down, Burrows ran the ball up the middle for four yards and a Brockton TD. The extra point attempt went wide and with 5:57 left in the first quarter, the score was New Brockton 6-Zion 0.

ZION CHAPEL quarterback Greg Davis (28) is forced to run by the heavy pass rush of New Brockton.

The kickoff went into the endzone and was brought out to the 20. On first down Green gained two yards, and on 2nd, the speedy Burrows carried the ball 15 yards into the endzone for another Gamecock touchdown! On the two-point conversion, Brockton fumbled the ball and failed to score, leaving the score - New Brockton 12-Zion Chapel 0.

Again Zion took the kickoff, with Kevin Flowers taking the ball back for 19 yards, but on first down the Rebs fumbled the ball and it was recovered by the Gamecocks on the Zion 26-yard line. On the first series of downs, Brockton failed to move the ball, but got an automatic first on a pass interference penalty. Then on 3rd down, quarterback Anthony Maddox completed a pass to Greg Haggan for 14 yards on another Gamecock touchdown. Again the extra point failed, leaving the score N.B. 18-Z.C. 0.

Zion's Jeff Amiong took the kickoff for 14 yards, but after only a one-yard gain on first, quarterback Davis was sacked behind the line for a 19-yard loss. After a short pass on third, Zion came up short and had to punt on fourth. New Brockton took the ball and gained one first, but after losing yardage, couldn't make another and had to punt back to Zion. The Rebels also came up short on third and had to kick back to the Gamecocks where it was downed on the Z.C. 42-yard line.

New Brockton got a first down and on second, during a downpour, Maddox connected with Joseph Burrows for a 31-yard completion into the endzone to end the first half. The extra point again went wide and the half ended with the score New Brockton 24-Z.C. 0.

At halftime both bands took to the field, and even though they had to suffer through intermittent showers, they delighted the rain-soaked crowd with an excellent half-time show.

The second half kickoff was taken by Brockton's Burrows who ran it back for 11 yards to the Z.C. 47-yard line. On first down Dunaway carried for six yards, and on 2nd he carried for five yards and a Brockton first. On 3rd, he carried for five yards and a Brockton first. On 4th, he carried for five yards and a Brockton first. On 5th, he carried for five yards and a Brockton first. On 6th, he carried for five yards and a Brockton first. TIGERS DROWN TROJANS 14-7

MARK HENDERSON (32) stretches for the goalline to score the Tigers' only touchdown of the night in the 14-7 win over Troy.

CRUNCH! Elba linebacker Hal Brunson (54) lowers the boom on a Trojan runner after a short gain.

EMANUEL MAGWOOD (40) and John Meachum (82) look to the sidelines after Meachum deflected this punt to set up a field goal.

"Let it rain, let it rain, let it rain!" Those had to be the thoughts of Elba's Coach Mack Wood last Friday night as he watched his fired up Tigers battle to post a 14-7 upset win over the defending State Champion Charles Henderson High Trojans, of Troy.

The win, played in a downpour in the first half, upped Elba's slate to 4-3 (3-1 in Area), while the loss dropped Troy's record to 3-3 (1-2 in Area). It was also the 99th career victory for Coach Wood, moving him only one win shy of the illustrious 100 win level.

Troy won the toss and elected to receive, but their own ball in play on their own 12-yard line after a big tackle by Elba's Patrick Jones. The Trojans fumbled on their first play, their first of 11 during the game, and two plays later had to punt. Elba fullback Ted Horstead ripped for 14 yards on first down, but the Tigers couldn't move and had to punt. Paul Cox's punt covered only 25 yards, but backed Troy up on its own 10-yard line. The Trojan wishbone again couldn't mount any attack and again had to punt. Elba's John Meachum applied a heavy rush on the play and deflected the kick, but the Tigers taking over at the Troy 35. A Trojan penalty and 3 runs by Michael Scott moved Elba to the 18, but the Troy defense rose up, forcing sophomore Dwayne Hooks to come in for a 35-yard field goal attempt. Hook's kick was straight and long putting the Tigers on top 3-0 with 3:49 left in the opening stanza.

Troy gained good yardage on the ground on their next series and then crossed up the Tigers on a second down play when quarterback Kyle Ingalls tossed a pass to Alex White, who raced untouched 54 yards to paydirt. Scott Rainy added the extra point, and suddenly Troy had taken the lead at 7-3 with 1:37 still left in the first quarter.

Elba took the ensuing kick and put together its first real drive of the game. Ted yard gains by Ted Horstead and Mark Henderson got the ball to the Trojan 2, and then Mark Henderson dove over for the 2-point conversion, putting Elba on top 14-7 with 2:00 left in the third stanza.

The two rivals swapped punts on their next series, with Troy winding up with the ball at midfield. The Trojans again got their offense in gear and in only two plays moved all the way to the Elba 15-yard line. A 3-yard run moved Troy to the 12, but a fumble lost six yards and an incomplete pass left the Trojans with a fourth and 13 on the 18-yard line. A pitch-out failed to connect on the big fourth down play, resulting in a fumble, and Elba took over the Troy 21.

Neither club could manage a first down on the next three offensive possessions, but punts of 49 and 42 yards by Paul Cox kept Troy backed up deep in their own territory, and the Elba defense stopped the Trojans cold! Troy got the ball with :09 left in the game on their own 27 and showed signs of life by moving to the Elba 47-yard line. However, a pair of short gains and a fumble left Troy facing a fourth and six, and when a desperation pass fell incomplete, Elba had the win 14-7!
